

RAVENS IN OUR COMMUNITY

HELPING UP MISSION COAT DISTRIBUTION

The Baltimore Ravens hosted their 14th annual Ravens coat giveaway at the Helping Up Mission men’s shelter on Nov. 20. Several Ravens players, including LB Kamalei Correa, QB Joe Flacco, DT Willie Henry, OLB Matthew Judon, DB Anthony Levine Sr., ILB Patrick Onwuasor, K Justin Tucker and S Eric Weddle were all in attendance to distribute coats and other winter gear to the men living at Helping Up Mission.

VERIZON PASS IT FORWARD

Throughout the season, the Ravens have teamed up with Verizon to surprise fans by performing random acts of kindness in the Baltimore community. On Monday, Nov. 20, TE Benjamin Watson (pictured right) greeted fans at a toll booth located along Fort McHenry Tunnel, where he informed them that their tolls had been paid for. To conclude the morning, he then traveled to Charles Carroll Barrister Elementary School to serve a complimentary lunch to the students, faculty and staff. Following lunch, Verizon led a group of fifth-grade students in an educational STEM activity. The goal of the campaign is to create a positive social movement that begins with these events and encourages recipients to “Pass It Forward.”

THANKSGIVING WITH THE RAVENS

Between Monday, Nov. 20 and Tuesday, Nov. 21, Ravens players hosted nearly 10 Thanksgiving dinners and turkey distribution events for members of the Baltimore community. Former Ravens O.J. Brigance, Jameel McClain, and Bart Scott took part in the festivities when they visited Helping Up Mission to provide meals to men at the homeless shelter. Many current Ravens players, including OLB Matthew Judon, DB Anthony Levine Sr., DB Lardarius Webb, RB Terrance West and DT Brandon Williams also participated by hosting Thanksgiving distributions at local schools, churches and family centers.
